Over 150 Attend Event for NYC's Animal Medical Center in Wellington, Florida

Event Hosted by Elizabeth Monaco and Neil M. McCarthy

(New York, N.Y. - February 28, 2019) Elizabeth Monaco and Trustee Neil M. McCarthy hosted over 150 guests at a celebration in support of the Animal Medical Center (AMC), the world's largest non-profit animal hospital, at their home in Wellington, Florida on February 22nd.

The event was co-chaired by: Trustee Donna Acquavella, James Anderson, Georgina Bloomberg, Jenny Dunion, Rachel Eidelman, Trustee Emilia Fanjul, Steven Gambrel, Alexander Hamer, Keith Johnson, Trustee Emilia Krimendahl, Patricia Raynes, Glen Senk, John Talley, Lyman T. Whitehead, and Cathy Zicherman. Guests enjoyed an evening of conversation, drinks, and hors d'oeuvres. Additional activities, including a raffle, readings by a pet psychic, and drawings by talented sketch artists, were extremely popular with the crowd.

Host Neil McCarthy welcomed guests and shared his thoughts about what makes AMC so unique in the veterinary world. Followed by his welcome, AMC Chief Executive Officer Kathryn Coyne spoke about AMC's vision for the future. Guests had an opportunity to speak with newly appointed Chief Medical Officer Dr. Katherine Quesenberry, Internist Dr. Doug Palma, and Surgical Oncologist Dr. Katie Kennedy.

"AMC provides a level of veterinary care that no other facility is able to offer," said Elizabeth Monaco. "Neil and I are committed to supporting AMC's advanced specialty medicine, cutting-edge research, intensive training for veterinarians, and charitable care for animals in need and want to help extend the reach of AMC beyond its Manhattan facility."

"We are deeply grateful to Libby and Neil for their unwavering commitment to AMC and for hosting this special evening that brought together so many people who are truly passionate about animals," said Kathryn Coyne.
