Dog Body Language

Signs of Fear

A nervous or scared dog will typically attempt to make themselves look smaller. The dog may turn their head away, tuck their tail between their legs, flatten back their ears, and crouch. Avoid approaching dogs who are scared. Here are a few signs of fearful behavior:

Tail Tucked Ears Back

Trembling

Moving Away

Won't Approach

Lip Licking

Pacing

Yawning

Shaking Off (not wet)

Scratching

Refusing Food

Signs of Aggression

An upset or aggressive dog will typically attempt to make themselves look bigger. The dog may show their teeth, growl, and bark. The dog may narrow their eyes and hold their body very still. Avoid approaching dogs who are upset. Here are a few signs of aggressive behavior:

Possessive

Growling

Barking

Alert

Lunging

How to Greet a Dog Safely

1. Ask

Ask the owner if it is okay to pet the dog.

2. Wait

Make a fist and let the dog approach and sniff if they choose.

3. Pet

Pet the dog gently on its side or back.

4. Walk Away

Walk away slowly once you are done petting the dog.

Dog Do's and Don'ts

Check out this list of do's and don'ts when interacting with a dog!

Do...

Ask Permission to Pet

Always ask the owner for permission first before petting their dog. You must respect the owner's decision if they tell you "no".

Keep Yourself Safe

If you are being approached by an unfamiliar dog, stand still like a tree, look down, and clasp your hands in front of you. If you are ever knocked down, curl into a ball. If you are attacked, "give" the dog your jacket/bookbag/toy to grab instead.

Respect Service Dogs

Service dogs are trained to perform tasks that help people with disabilities. If you see a person with a service dog, do not distract the dog while they are on the job.

Let Your Dog Have Space

Let your dog have their own space where they feel safe, whether it is a crate, a sleeping pad, or a designated room in the home. If your dog is asleep or wants to be alone, let them be.

Don't...

Approach an Unfamiliar Dog

Never approach a dog that you do not know personally. If you do know the dog, always make sure the owner is there with you.

Hurt Your Dog

Don't play rough with your dog. This includes pulling on their ears or tail, trying to ride on their back, or trying to play when they want to be left alone.

Tease Your Dog

Do not offer your dog a toy or treat and then take it away. Also, do not make loud noises that could scare your dog.

Invade a Dog's Space

Never reach out to a dog behind a fence. If a dog is eating, do not bother them or try to take their food away. If the dog is playing with a toy, do not try taking it away from them either.

Advice for Caregivers

If you are a dog owner with children in the home, there are things you can do to significantly reduce the risk of your child being bit:

- Socialize your dog by letting them interact with different people, animals, and environments. Also be sure to take your dog to training classes.
- Supervise your child when they are interacting with the family dog. Put a stop to behaviors that could hurt the dog, such as the child tugging on the dog's ears or tail. Be on the lookout for signs indicating your dog is feeling anxious or aggressive during an interaction with your child.
- Never leave young children unsupervised with the family dog. If you need to leave the room, keep the dog and child in separate areas with a barrier such as a door or baby gate.
- Teach your child how to safely interact with the family dog. Show your child where the dog can be pet and teach them how to play safely. Make sure your child knows to leave the family dog alone when they are sleeping or eating.
- Demonstrate good behavior to your child by always asking an owner permission before petting a new dog.
